Let me explain
this to you,
OK MeatHead?

Racial Performance Differences are Mostly Biological

I'm not a "racist", but I am a "racialist". Let's just start with that statement, OK?

I don't "hate" negroes, but I recognize the differences. I don't "hate" Pit Bulls and Rottweilers, but "on-average", those breeds of dogs, irrespective of training, have more genetic-based anger tendencies than other breeds. We're all cautious around Pit Bulls and Rottweilers, and we're all cautious around negroes. Why is that? Is it because the breeds of humans are every bit as dissimilar as the breeds of dogs?

All of those breeds of dogs are of the same genus and species, so they are all capable of inter-breeding, but their sub-type variants differ widely, and it's the same with the sub-species breeds of man.

Again, it's the averages, not the cherry-picked extremes - I'm not saying, "because I have observed that 90-percent of negroes are lazy, stupid, and primitive savages, they must all be that way." I'm not saying that at all. I am simply saying that in the totality of our human experience, we have all observed that the races are fundamentally different, and to some degree, performance and behavior for the group, if not the individual, is predictable.

In Post-Racist America, should everyone be treated equally and fairly?
Absolutely. But you can't have it both ways, and real equality would mean no more affirmative action, no more race-based or gender-based "special admits" in college or work, and probably no more special breaks for high school and college athletes, and no more "attendance-based" diplomas. But can the utopians handle that?

Individuality certainly counts, and the environment matters, but "on-average" there are race-specific realistic expectations, caused by biological determinates of human behavior.

If all of the American Do-Gooders, Deniers, and Enablers had been raised in Asia (for example, China, Japan, South Korea, or Singapore) then they would not have been taught the Utopian "equality" ideal, (as if fact) Instead, they would have been taught the real differences. Outside of America and Europe, it is taught that the equatorial region, all around the globe (not just the Congo) is the "Low-IQ-Belt", and that's exactly how they present it in their sociology textbooks.

On average, the races differ in mind and spirit as well as in body. On average, there is a three-way pattern of race differences in both physical traits and behavior. On average, Asians are slower to mature, less fertile, less sexually active, less aggressive, and have larger brains and higher IQ scores. Blacks are at the other extreme. Caucasians fall in the middle, but closer to Asians than to Blacks.

Why does this surprise anyone? In the "Out-of-Africa" theory of evolution, the Black folks who stayed behind in Africa, picking the low-hanging fruit, had no challenges, and there were no Darwinian developmental pressures. The pre-Neanderthal groups, which migrated out, faced new challenges (like ice and snow, and learning to farm, and learning to preserve food) and those who immigrated out of Africa finally became the modern-day Caucasian and Asian races.

Differences? Caucasian men can't jump. Asian men can't either. Blacks have a genetic edge in sports like boxing, basketball, football, and sprinting. However, some of these same racial differences pose a problem for Black swimmers. Heavier skeletons and proportionally-smaller chest cavities limit their swimming performance.

Compared to Caucasians, Blacks have proportionally narrower hips, which gives them a more efficient stride. They have a shorter sitting height, which provides a lower center of gravity and a better balance. Negroes have wider shoulders, less body fat, and more muscle. Their muscles include more fast twitch muscle fibers, which produce power. Blacks have 20% more of the sex hormone testosterone than Caucasians or Asians. The testosterone translates into more explosive energy, but at the cost of social ills, including impulsivity and quickness to anger.

The rapid-anger "fight-or-flight" response provided a good advantage for Blacks to have back in the Congo, but it exacerbates the social ills in post-plantation America.

Racial differences show up early in life. Black babies are born a week earlier than Caucasian babies, yet they are more mature as measured by bone development. By age five or six, Black children excel in the dash, the long jump, and the high jump, all of which require a short burst of power. By the teenage years, angry young Blacks have faster reflexes, unrestrained impulsive behavior, and excel at muggings and the "knock-out-game".

Asians run even less well than Caucasians. The same narrow hips, longer legs, more muscle, and more testosterone that give Blacks an advantage over Caucasians, give Caucasians an advantage over Asians. But if you admit to these genetic differences, which give Blacks an advantage in some sports, then that leads to a non-Utopian greater unspoken taboo - It means that you must also admit to racial differences in brain development and criminality and every other measurable trait or quality. That is why it is taboo for Utopians to even say that Blacks are better at many sports.

The reason why Caucasians and Asians have proportionally wider hips than Blacks, (and make poorer runners) is because they give birth to larger brained babies. During evolution, increasing cranial size meant women had to have a wider pelvis. Further, the hormones that give Blacks an edge at sports makes them restless in school and prone to crime.

And, it's not just the testosterone and the upside-down American utopian social order which makes Blacks angry and aggressive. It's also the MAOA-"Warrior Gene".

When you add it all up, the following trifecta explains why Blacks like Trayvon Martin and Michael Brown are stupid enough, and angry enough, to attack men carrying guns...

1.) Utopians teach Blacks that "we-are-all-equal", and that Blacks are "victims", and that Blacks have "special entitlements". Isn't that just Brilliant? Utopians teach Blacks to be both angry and dissatisfied.

2.) Black males, on average, have that little problem with 20-percent higher testosterone.

3.) There is a 50-Times higher incidence, per capita, of the MAOA-"Warrior Gene" in Blacks and other primitive peoples, as compared to Caucasians and Asians.

If you were raised in post-forced-immigration and utopian-ideal America, then you don't know any better. You've seen white trash and black trash. You've seen the horrendous effects of race-mixing, wherein Caucasian kids feel obligated to learn (and emulate) black behavior. ("..and you thought it was normal..") In real numbers, there simply weren't that many "white trash" Americans pre-1964. Two generations later, white children have learned to emulate black behavior, and they don't know any better. Today's uninformed Utopians seem to have forgotten how much better is was in the 1950's, for all races.

American utopians should visit Singapore, and watch how it works. Segregation is by choice, which means that businesses and schools can put up signs like "No Indians" or "No Japs", or whatever. However, "equal opportunity", real equal opportunity, is enforced. How does that work? Easy -

1.) From pre-school up, you can't be a teacher, in any school, unless you meet the minimum skills, including speaking perfect English, and perfect Bahasa, and at least some Malay-Chinese, and passing all IQ and achievement tests. You won't find better public or private schools than in Singapore.

2.) There is a workable "forced-equality" - - all schools, public and private, must use exactly the same textbooks and the same curriculum.

3.) It gets better - - every year, every student in Singapore must take a battery of standardized tests - -

** IQ

** Motor Skills

** Physical Training

** Mechanical Aptitude

** Reading Comprehension

** Math and Science

By Grade Six, the Singaporean system can accurately predict if you're going to be a ditch-digger or a dentist, or a plumber or a physicist. It works, and it's fair. It's non-utopian, and it's good...

Twin Studies - - Research in behavioral genetics has shown that identical twins reared apart, (even in dissimilar cultures), usually have similar IQ, achievement levels, and personality traits. This result suggests that genetics is at least as important as environmental pressures and nurturing, if not more important.

Environmental Damages - - Yes, PTSD is real, been there and done that. Which means, what? It means that you can take a Caucasian or an Asian, and if you treat them savagely enough, for long enough, then those individuals will become savages and act like savages, but at least it's not genetic.. it wasn't inherited, and it doesn't pass on to the next generation. Blacks, however, are born designed to fit into Africa, and they weren't designed to fit into European or Asian culture. But, yes, PTSD and other environmental pressures and consequences can make Blacks perform even more poorly than they would anyway.

White Anglo-Saxon Supremacy? ("..Really?..") - - If I were a racist, I couldn't admit this - - White Anglo Saxon Protestants didn't win WW-2 all by themselves - - in a very real way, the Jews brought the best brain power to WW-2. ("..and the Russians brought the manpower..") Who were the brains? Albert Einstein, Leo Szilard, Niels Bohr, Lise Meitner, Enrico Fermi, J. Robert Oppenheimer, Edward Teller, and Joseph Rotblat - - If it wasn't for those guys, we probably wouldn't have had atomic bombs, and we'd still be trying to fight our way onto the shores of the Japanese main islands. If I were a racist, I couldn't admit that. However, as a racialist, I recognize the Bell Curve.

Attached to this PDF is an image file made from a similar chart, which I extracted from a separate commentary, (not from any of their mainstream books) written by Richard J. Herrnstein and Charles Murray, the guys who wrote "The Bell Curve" in 1994. This chart was intended to simplify it for Utopians who are either too lazy (or not open-minded enough) to read all of the in-depth studies.

Regrettably, the distilled-down simplicity of the chart has caused the cherry-picking mainstream media to quote Herrnstein and Murray as saying that "all Blacks are dumb", which ain't exactly what they said...

I would advocate that every utopian have the following chart tattooed on the inside of their eyelids - -

Average Differences
